

"rescued story"

You are invited to write down for the first time all those imaginary stories You have made up so many times. When you were on the street or sitting in the train looking at someone and you started wondering about his life, when you were listening at a conversation that was going on behind your table at the restaurant. All those stories and images that you could never tell to anyone.

Trasform your thoughts in a piece of a story made with all the memories.

Few recommendations:

- don't put a new character if there is no a good reason to do it
- pay attention to what happened bifore
- nothing is banal, at least it is real
- make us smile
- make us cry

Good luck!
